We haven't been affected too much with this problem, or at least since I came in 1970. The City Council and Commissioners Court have always invited the press to sit in on those meetings which they felt necessary to call "closed."

But I know, and they know, that many times decisions are made by consultation outside a meeting and then the final vote taken at a meeting. The new bill will say this is wrong and will authorize penalties for violation.

The bill, pertaining strictly to governmental bodies in our state, originally proposed that a city council or commissioner's court would have an open meeting to consider the qualifications of the applicant unless the applicant asked for a closed meeting.

The adopted amendment establishes the policy that when a governmental body considers an application of an individual or the dismissal of an employee, the meeting may be called for an executive session (closed meeting) and the applicant or employee is entitled to an open meeting if he so requests. etings law in Texas was closely fits the thinking of

Museum Day plans spell 'fun', meeting reveals successful Museum Celebration day ever were expressed Monday night at a meeting to outline plans for this money-raising event scheduled on Saturday, May 5.

That's the day for the fun, food and frolic. Sunday, May 6, is serious business day when antique buyers and collectors from over the state will flock to Hondo for the Museum Antique Auction.

Events to be sponsored on the big Saturday were listed Monday night and persons assigned to contact organizations who sponsored these events last Museum Celebration Day.

These will include: Country Store, Purple Petticoat Saloon, Ice Cream, Hot Dogs, Soft Drinks, Games Party, Baseball Dunk, Fortune Teller, Fish Pond, Hay Ride, Pony Rides, Arts and Craft Show and Sale, Pop Corn, Sno Cones, Balloons for Sale, Dart-Balloon Board, Buenello Booth, Sidewalk Cafe, Painted Rocks, Museum Plates and Sketches, Barbecue Chicken Supper.

Bill Green has come up with a new feature this year which should prove very attractive. He plans a big Chili Cookoff and already has Pete Pike and Dave Knight, both members of the Air Force GCA site crew in Hondo, confirmed as entrants. Winner of the event will represent Medina County Museum at the San Marcos Chilympiad next

Perhaps the only way it could be done," the experts said, "would be to form a state-wide marketing association. With such an association, they could provide year-round products to processors and other buyers, thus assuring them continuity of supply.

How do you put together a marketing association? Doesn't it take a lot of financing?

"To put together a marketing association today getting the financial backing is the easiest part of it," said Gene Harrison, a San Antonio banker serving as chairman of the Agri Business Conference.

'Yes," agreed Dr. Black, "and getting top notch management is the hardest Harrison said that within the next few years the trend will be for the flow of capital from the city to on more sophisticated marketing the rural areas. This will reverse a systems, we will have the greatest trend that has been going on for a agriculture ever in Texas."

'But," he continued, "big city banking institutions will not put money into rural areas unless they see evidence of sophisticated systems operated by efficient managers.

When asked why farmers and ranchers have not moved more toward the marketing side, Dr. Black had this to say:

"Farmers don't put things together when they are on the 'fat side'; they wait until they are on the 'lean side' to put them together, and by that time they don't have anything to put things together

HIGH ELECTRIC BILL?

Many persons waste a good portion of their friendly electric servant's efficiency of operation. This is especially noted during peak periods of usage such as extended periods of cold weather and extended periods of hot weather.

MEDINA ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. suggests you follow some of these helpful hints to conserve energy and reduce power bills:

Inspect window and door openings for leaks and cracks.

* Check with a qualified contractor to make sure your home is properly insulated.

* Adjust thermostat settings just the comfortable level. During cold nights, lower thermostat settings.

* Have draperies serve as insulators over exposed glass windows and doors. * Don't leave unnecessary lights burning when you are not at home. * Learn to cut off the units of your range before the food is completely cooked; finish the job with "free heat" left in the unit. * Check your wiring and be sure that it does not come in contact with water pipes, eave spouting, windmills, trees or roofs of buildings. Many high bills are caused by leaks or faults in the wiring system. Why not have your wiring checked by a good electrician and brought up to date? * Stop all faucet leaks. * Make sure your heating and-or cooling unit is the proper size for the job it is expected to perform * Wash and dry full loads of clothes in laundering

"Even though the almanac tells us that spring doesn't arrive until March 20," says the Houston Chronicle, "the robins do conjure thoughts of wild flowers and budding trees.'

Winter's touch-and-go grip on this city's assorted weather, where many robins seem to have established permanent year-round residence, isn't dependent on them for such conjuring service. Peach and plum trees have been "bustin' out all over" for some weeks now and many appear to be going about their business of making ready to provide delicious spreads for the breakfast toast later on.

Our robins seem happy about the whole thing and have set the once-popular song, "When that red, red robin comes bob, bob, bobbin' along" ringing in my

My grade A-plus friend, MARY RUTH CAMERON, who has dedicated 40 years of her busy life to public welfare, writes that she plans to retire this December and says, "I can hardly wait."

Having been among the off-again on-again retirees for some years and now probably permanently "on the bench" (subject to good behavior), I know the feeling about both anticipation and second-thoughts regarding advantages and-or-disadvantages etc. Retirement does have its good points but, there are times when I am hard put to name one!

Forty years can store away a wealth of memories and I hope that Mary Ruth will find that the happy ones will relegate any less pleasant ones to oblivion (which is where they really belong). And, if I may reach back to 1913 to quote our high school graduating class motto (which sounded impressive if rather meaningless at the time) "No endeavor is in vain; its reward is in the "Compugraphic Compuwriter" I had to spell out v-e-r-v carefully, from the page one story in last week's ANVIL HERALD.

And, who else but WANDA NEUMAN could do "all OUT" type setting, as the story said? She does, indeed, do a tremendous job.

Now, the days of writing, editing, rewriting from what seemed impenetrable copy for submission to Wanda and TONY (who worked magic at the noisy machines and press under his sensitive ear and hands) seem long ago and far away. They are, fortunately, and there's no harking back to those as the "good old days." They weren't all THAT good!

Our subscribers are now getting a lot of newspaper and they will be finding the reading of it easier on the

My appreciative reading of our weekly Anvil Herald includes even every ad, believe it or not . . . from the PEDEN DRUG sale-priced Wrinkle Lotion (which I don't need, being fully wrinkle-equipped) to the 'Shrinks 1/3 off" at FINGER FASHIONS like a "heady" bargain. (What IS a Shrink?)

Sir Eustace Peachtree (Floruit 1640) and with whom I was not personally acquainted is credited with this observation: "Among the notionable dictes of antique Rome was the fancy that when men heard thunder on the west, the gods had somewhat of special advertisement to impart.'

If I may paraphrase the late Sir Eustace: When you read the ads in the ANVIL HERALD, you'll know that Hondo's merchants have bargains worthy of special advertisement to impart.

In that month, he and his wife, Aurline, decided to take the step towards being an independent business.

Purchasing an appliance store then owned by Jake Schuehle, the Tschirharts became proprietors of a small but growing appliance sale and service By 1963, the business had grown at such a rate that expansion was necessary, and the Ranch Store moved to its present location on Avenue M.

Many things about the ousiness have changed since it opened. Central air conditioning, air conditioning for combines, and some brand names of appliances have been left off, and some new services ave been added.

But now as then, the code of "servicing any and all products we sell to our customers," is priority

RCA and Whirlpool are the major brands handled at the Ranch Store. The Tschirharts believe that these are the finest product lines on the market. Why?

Both companies pro duce equipment, service and parts availability that no other manufacturer can match. Most producers declare their products obsolete after five to sever years, and quit supplying parts. Not RCA and Whirlpool. We can still get parts for some of their earliest units," declared Chick Tschirhart.

The Tschirharts' commitment to Hondo is no limited to the Ranch Store. Both are deeply involved in religious edu cation at St. John' Catholic Church, Chick is a former Presi dent of the Hondo Lions Club, as well as serving on the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department.

It's coming again! the big, fun-filled Folklife Festival

Texans had such a good time at their own party last year that the Institute of Texan Cultures will host a second statewide Texas Folklife Festival September 6-9, 1973, it was announced today by Executive Director R. Henderson Shuffler.

The four-day celebration will feature the traditional foods. music. dances. arts. crafts. games and contests of all the many kinds of Texans.

O. T. Baker, ITC Projects Manager, will again be manager of the fete. His two chief goals for the 1973 festival are to maintain an atmosphere of family fun and to encourage greater visitor participation.

In its first year 63,565 attended the state's biggest party and 2,163 people from 102 Texas towns staffed the festival which was designed to show everyone how Texans of all races and national origins have

Organized and operated b the Institute, the second Texas Folklife Festival will be supported by pledges of aid-in-service from a number of state and local organiza-

The San Antonio Hotel Association, according to president Bill Hunter, will again support the festival by contributing rooms for out-of-town participants.

The Institute of Texan Cultures, the producer of the Folklife Festival, is part of the University of Texas System. Its purpose is to tell the history of the state through the stories of the various ethnic groups who reside here and the festival is a natural outgrowth of the Institute's study of our cultural heritage.

Rook continues three perfect records

After one week of competition in the Second Annual D'Hanis Rook Tournament, only three couples have kept their record spotless at five wins and no losses.

The teams of Tom Hollmig and Lloyd Hermes, Dealia Koch and Marie Finger, and Raymond and Velma Finger have all held onto the perfect record going into the final round of play Sunday.

Fifty-six teams, or 112 players, descended on the D'Hanis Parish Hall last Sunday to participate in the tourney. This represented a substantial increase over last year's inaugural tournament. The D'Hanis Lions Club, sponsor of the event, hopes to see continued growth that will one day make D'Hanis the Rook Capital of Texas.

Next Sunday, all teams who won three or more games last week will compete in the Championship flight, which will make them eligible for the top prize money.

Teams recording two or fewer wins will compete against one another in the Lower flight.

We're proud our seeds have earned the trust of farmers like these...

recorded a yield of 4866 counds on 160 acres of Pioneer 846. Next year it'll be Pioneer

W.W. Chapma got a yield of 2500 pounds with Pioneer 846 and only one rain on his dryland farm. He likes the standability and drouth yield of 846. Next year 100 acres will be in Pioneer brand seed for W. W. Chapman, Leakey Rt., Sabinal, Texas.

Because we were the first company to commercially produce hybrid corn and with 17 years of work on sorghum, we know a lot more about hybrids and how to make crosses that really yield. We've had longer to test and re-test our varieties. We've stuck with some of our early crosses, and we keep developing new ones to fit every growing condition imaginable.

Pioneer Brand 8442

resistant to downy mildew and anthracnose - strong roots and stalks - matures about the same as $846\,$ Pioneer Brand 8150 immune to downy mildew in all states — resist smut and anthracnose a day or so later than $846\,$
